

Asian Journal of Peacebuilding (AJP) is a semiannual peer-reviewed journal launched by the Institute for Peace and Unification Studies (IPUS) at Seoul National University. It publishes original research on the topics of violence, conflict, and peacebuilding around the world. The aim of AJP is twofold: first, to promote innovative research on issues related to peacebuilding in Asia, a region where national divisions, transitions, and developments are intertwined with new forms of threat, violence, and destruction. Second, it aims to disseminate peace studies conducted both in the traditional disciplines of social sciences and humanities, as well as in interdisciplinary fields at the interface of religion, culture, ecology, and gender studies.

AJP welcomes papers written by scholars around the world, both within and outside the Asian region. Exemplary topics that AJP focuses on include but are not limited to: reconciliation in divided societies (or nations); migrants and refugees; weapons of mass destruction (WMD) developments; development and ecological destruction; historical and territorial disputes; peacemaking or mediation in intrastate conflicts; violence and transitional justice; anti-nuclear weapons (or anti-nuclear power) movements; gender issues at conflict zones; democratic transition and human rights; post-conflict institutionalization; and humanitarian assistance and protection.

The contents of the Journal are available or abstracted at EBSCOhost™ Political Science, EBSCOhost™ Academic Search, ProQuest Political Science, ProQuest Social Science, Sociological Abstracts, Worldwide Political Science Abstracts, and International Political Science Abstracts. Also, the AJP is indexed at SCOPUS and the Korean Citation Index (KCI).

E-ISSN 2288-2707

Print ISSN 2288-2693

Vol. 7, No. 2 November 2019

Special Issue: Human Security After 25 Years

- Sorpong Peou* Human Security after 25 Years: Some Introductory Remarks and Critical Reflections
- Brendan Howe* Human Security, Peacebuilding, and the Responsibility to Protect in East Asia
- Kwesi Aning and Ernest Ansah Lartey* Governance Perspectives of Human Security in Africa
- Mats Berdal* Revisiting the “Responsibility to Protect” and the Use of Force
- Sorpong Peou* Why ‘Smart’ Sanctions Still Cause Human Insecurity

Other Articles

- Sung Chull Kim* Transitions without Transitional Justice in Asia
- Daisuke Akimoto* [International Regulation of “Lethal Autonomous Weapons Systems”
\(LAWS\): Paradigms of Policy Debate in Japan](#)
- Hiro Katsumata and Shingo Nagata* ASEAN and the BRI: The Utility of Equidistant Diplomacy with China and the US
- Anurag Chakma* Is NGO Peacebuilding Risk-Free? A Case Study on Bangladesh
- László Csaba* Post-Communist Systemic Change: Lessons for East Asia

List of Editorial Members

Editors-in-Chief:

Sung Chull Kim (Seoul National University), Taekyoon Kim (Seoul National University)

Executive Editors:

Robert Jacobs (Hiroshima Peace Institute), Lam Peng Er (National University of Singapore)

Editorial Team:

Managing Editor Kyung Hyo Chun (Seoul National University), Editorial Assistant Kayla Orta (Seoul National University)

Editorial Board:

Randall Amster (Georgetown University), N. Ganesan (Hiroshima Peace Institute), Young-Sun Ha (Seoul National University), Stephan Haggard (University of California, San Diego), Toshiya Hoshino (Osaka University), Akihiko Kimijima (Ritsumeikan University), Julia Mirsky (Ben Gurion University), Myoung-Kyu Park (Seoul National University), T. V. Paul (McGill University), Thomas Princen (University of Michigan), José Ramos-Horta (Nobel Laureate, Former President of Timor-Leste), Luc Reyckler (University of Leuven), Galya Ruffer (Northwestern University), Gavriel Salomon (University of Haifa), Etel Solingen (University of California, Irvine), Harvey Starr (University of South Carolina), Scott Straus (University of Wisconsin, Madison), Dmitri Trenin (Carnegie Moscow Center), Georgina Waylen (University of Manchester), Lawrence S. Wittner (University at Albany, SUNY), Tom Woodhouse (Bradford University), Yan Xuetong (Tsinghua University), Zheng Yongnian (National University of Singapore)

Submissions and Inquiries

All papers are subject to anonymous peer review. The reviewers are selected based on their expertise in the area of the submitted paper, and they will evaluate submitted papers on the basis of creativity, quality of scholarship, and contribution to the field of research. Please follow the manuscript submission guidelines.

To send submissions or for more information

Submission Guidelines

All papers are subject to anonymous peer review. The reviewers are selected based on their expertise in the area of the submitted paper, and they will evaluate submitted papers on the basis of creativity, quality of scholarship, and contribution to the field of research. Please follow the submission guidelines.

1. The author should indicate upon submission if their paper should be considered as a 1) Research Article or 2) Local Perspectives piece.
2. A Research Article is a full research paper that contains a literature review, theoretical and analytical framing of arguments, and sufficient data to substantiate author's claims. It should be between 6,000 and 10,000 words, including references, footnotes (endnotes are not allowed), and abstract (125 word max).
3. A Local Perspective is a paper that analyzes the development of significant peace- and conflict-related events based on new local information and data. It does not include theoretical analysis nor a literature review and is between 4,000 and 6,000 words, including references, footnotes (endnotes are not allowed), and abstract (125 word max).
4. Articles and Local Perspectives must include an abstract of less than 125 words and 5 to 6 key words.
5. Figures and tables should be provided on separate sheets appended to the paper. All tables and figures should be numbered. Their positions should be referred to in the text.
6. Manuscripts should be submitted in Microsoft Word format and double spaced. Papers should be typed unjustified, without hyphenation except for compound words. Tab key should be used for paragraph indents. Times New Roman font is recommended. The word processing formatting features should be used to indicate bold, italic, Greek, equations, superscript, and subscript characters. Carriage returns should not be used to make space between lines, paragraphs, references, etc. The running titles and footnote features of the word processing package should not be used.
7. Authors should pay particular attention to the accuracy and correct presentation of references and citations. In-text references should be cited by giving the author's name, year of publication and specific page numbers after a direct quotation (Smith 1999, 28-29). A list of works cited must be inserted at the end of the paper. References should be single-spaced but double-spaced between citations and arranged alphabetically by author's family name, and chronologically for each author. When referring more than once to the same author published the same year, identify each citation in the text as follows; (Smith 2012a; 2012b). When there are four or more authors, cite in the text as (Smith et al. 1999), but list all the authors in the reference list.

Examples:

Book:

Galtung, Johan. 1996. Peace by Peaceful Means. London: Sage.

Sorauf, Frank J., and Paul Allen Beck. 1988. Party Politics in America. 6th ed. Glenview, IL: Scott, Foresman.

Book Chapter:

Hermann, Margaret G. 1984. "Personality and Foreign Policy Decision Making: A Study of Fifty-Three Heads of Government." In Foreign Policy Decision Making, eds. Donald A. Sylvan and Steve Chan. New York: Praeger, 133-152.

Johnson, Holly. 1995. "Seriousness, Type and Frequency of Violence against Wives." Part 3 In Wife Assault and the Canadian Criminal Justice System: Issues and Policies, eds. M. Valverde, L. MacLeod, and K. Johnson. Toronto: University of Toronto, 125-147.

Journal Article:

Roman, David, and Susanne Y. P. Choi. 2006. "Forgiveness and Transitional Justice in the Czech Republic." Journal of Conflict Resolution 50 (3): 339-367.

Newspaper Article:

Kaplan, David. 2002. "Made in the U.S.A." U.S. News and World Report, June 2.

Stolberg, Sherl Gay, and Robert Pear. 2010. "Wary Centrists Posing Challenge in Health Care Vote." New York Times, February 27. <http://www.nytimes.com/2010/02/28/us/politics/28health.html> (accessed February 28, 2011).

Others:

Hemmingsen, Ann-Sophie. 2010. "The Attractions of Jihadism: An Identity Approach to Three Danish Terrorism Cases and the Gallery of Characters Around Them." Ph.D. diss. University of Copenhagen.

World Bank. 2010. World Development Indicators 2010. Washington, DC: World Bank.

Layout of the Reference List (Example):

Galtung, Johan. 1996. Peace by Peaceful Means. London: Sage.

Haenn, Nora, and Richard R. Wilks, eds. 1983. The Environment in Anthropology. New York: New York University Press.

Hemmingsen, Ann-Sophie. 2010. "The Attractions of Jihadism: An Identity Approach to Three Danish Terrorism Cases and the Gallery of Characters Around Them." Ph.D. diss. University of Copenhagen.

9. Endnotes should be avoided, or at least kept to a minimum. They should be numbered consecutively throughout the text with superscript figures.
10. Author's short biography (3-4 sentences, 60-80 words max: affiliation, rank title, publications, email address, etc.) should be submitted.
11. Submission should be made via e-mail to: asianjournalofpeacebuilding@gmail.com

AJP is published by the Institute for Peace and Unification Studies at Seoul National University, South Korea. For queries, please contact the editorial office at: asianjournalofpeacebuilding@gmail.com